Linda Dardarian and co-counsel Lainey Feingold receive California Lawyer Magazine's 2000 California Lawyer of the Year (CLAY) Award for structured negotiations

DECEMBER 1, 2000

California Lawyer magazine named Linda Dardarian and co-counsel Lainey Feingold "California Lawyers of the Year" among twenty other lawyers who have shaped public policy and the legal profession. Linda and Lainey were recognized for two deals reached with Bank of America and Wells Fargo through structured negotiations. The banks agreed to install talking ATMs at each of their California locations and to send Braille bank statements to patrons who are blind. Bank of America agreed to make its website accessible to people who are blind or visually impaired. Linda and Lainey reached an agreement with Bank of America that was the first national agreement of its kind.
